

PRESENTS

Bea Lewis

Thursday, October 18, 2018 at 11:30am

Before retirement, Bea Lewis was a journalist for Newsday in New York. When she and her husband moved to Florida, Bea decided that the sun and sand weren't enough and returned to journalism. From 2003 until 2009, Bea's popular advice column on parent/adult child relationships was featured weekly in the Palm Beach Post.

With the help of experts she responded to readers' questions about their concerns and anxieties with their adult children. The information turned into a book - "My Kids Are All Grown Up, So Why Are They Still Driving me Crazy?"

Bea is a Boynton Beach resident. A recent widow, she was married to Ed Lewis for half a century and recently published her second book "A Widow's Journey – How I Went from Loss to Learning to Moving On" which includes such interesting essays as The Brisket Brigade and Senior Dating 101.

Bea has three adult daughters (which is why she colors her hair) five granddaughters (who are now her daughters' problem) and one prince (whose mother already doesn't like the girl he will someday marry.)
